CAPTAIN WELLS

HEARD FROM

He Talks to the Reporter of the Kalamazoo "Gazette"—One of the Men who Dug their way Out of Libby Prison

Our former fellow townsman, Capt. James M. Wells, disappeared from Glendale a few months ago, and we are glad to get news of him in a recent issue of the Kalamazoo Gazette. Capt. Wells is visiting his old home and is reported as talking in an interesting manner of his adventurous career as a soldier in the Union army during the civil war, having been in the service nearly all through that great struggle, entering as a sergeant and coming out with the rank of captain. He was one of 109 prisoners who dug their way to liberty from the notorious Libby prison in Richmond. They were eight weeks in digging a sixty-foot tunnel through which they successfully escaped, although all were recaptured but forty-three. Shortly after this adventure Capt. Wells came to Washington where he and his companions were given a reception by President Lincoln at the White House. Lincoln expressed great interest in their story and admiration for their daring and asked one question which showed the bent of his practical mind, and that was "What did you do with the dirt?" Captain Wells explains that the problem as it was explained to President Lincoln, the dirt was carefully spread over the earthen floor of the cellar and covered with the straw which happened to be there and which made their escape possible. Capt. Wells first came West in 1855 and was in Virginia City when the news reached him of the breaking out of the war. He is now engaged in writing the story of an interesting period in the history of the United States, beginning with the "Mormon War" and ending with the reconstruction period, telling it from the standpoint of an observer and actor in the great events which occurred at that time.

We note that the Captain speaks of being at home in Glendale, from which we infer that we may have the pleasure of numbering him again among our fellow citizens.

A HOO-DOO CELEBRATION.

Are You a Hoo-Doo?

Early Wednesday night an uncanny crowd, every one a dyed-in-the-wool Hoo-Doo, clamorously claimed a welcome at the door of Mr. and Mrs. John Hunchberger, at their domicile on Fifth street, when members in good standing of the recently organized Hoo-Doo club inaugurated holiday festivities worthy of members and officers, from the Grand High Organizer down, who since, organization on Friday, Nov. 13th, has indefatigably searched among the crowd for the real Hoo-Doo of the bunch.

"On this auspicious occasion" the home was entwined in smilax, holly and a mischievous mistletoe. A beautiful tree with lighted tapers bore a gift of singular originality on the part of some one and to each was attached a score-card, for, whenever there is time to spare on "meetin' nights" the Hoo-Doo's play the real, sure-thing, "Whist."

Also, on the fairy tree was a great bundle filled with gifts for Mrs. Alphonso Tower, that night guilty of a birthday, so there had, of course, to be a surprise. For imagine a birthday, hoo-doo or otherwise, (but mostly hoo-doo), without the time-honored "surprise!" Kindness and courtesy bids us refrain from mentioning contents, though the Professor immediately named them—Well, after a "spirited" game, the feast! The place de resistance was a made-in-California fruit piece of unbelievable beauty and proportions and merited the attention received.

Those who have recently entertained the Hoo-Doo's, more or less, are Dr. and Mrs. Colgrove, Dr. and Mrs. Ray Chase, Mr. and Mrs. Dominy, Brand boulevard, and the indomitable Hunchbergers.

The next meeting will hold forth at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McCombs, Mary street.

Following the discovery of the real Hoo-Doo there will be—no, not a special car, "just a dinner, for the winner," and later a box party at the theater; the place and play to be chosen by the two holding the highest score at the end of the season.

Keep out the burglars by getting automatic sash locks at C. H. Allen & Co.'s, 336 Brand Boulevard.

DEATH OF J. C. CONNOR.

We hear with regret of the death of Mr. J. C. Connor of Sixth and Adams street. Owing to a complication of diseases together with old age, Mr. Connor, who had lived in Maine for eighty years, and who had been actively engaged in business there since 1847, decided to spend the winter months in Southern California and selected Glendale, purchasing the property at Sixth and Adams street for a home. In spite of his ailment Mr. Connor was able to be out until a month ago when a recurrence of his old maladies confined him to the house. While his death was not altogether unexpected the end came suddenly at half past three on Monday afternoon. Present at his bedside when he died was his devoted wife and his niece, Mrs. Etta M. Connor, who spared no effort to comfort and cheer him to the last. Owing to the intense grief of the bereaved ones the body was quietly removed to Los Angeles, where it was prepared for shipment to Pittsfield, Me., and on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock Mrs. J. C. Connor left on the Santa Fe with the remains. Mrs. Connor expects to return to Glendale about February 1st.

BUILDING OPERATIONS IN GLENDALE.

A Fine Showing and Good Prospects.

The following figures are taken from the books of the building inspector for 1908:

No. Permits	Month	Value
6	January	$ 6,575
6	February	2,330
15	March	12,885
10	April	9,675
17	May	25,385
12	June	11,100
17	July	23,744
4	August	14,783
14	September	58,785
19	October	28,432
8	November	12,385
16	December	15,190

Total $221,319

In the above are included in the month of May, $7870 for the Logan store building; in July, $6875 for the Hurtt block; in August, $8500 for the new grammar school, and in September $45,000 for the High School building. The highest valuation given for a residence is $3000. The average is twelve permits per month.

There is every prospect now that this record will be greatly increased during the coming year. The building of two more two-story brick or stone buildings is assured in the near future and their aggregate cost will be twenty thousand dollars. Of buildings under way, good progress may be reported in regard to all of them. The new grammar school building is completed, was accepted by the trustees on the 30th and will be occupied at once. The Cole and Dick building on the boulevard is about completed as far as the outside walls and roof are concerned. The new High School building has the walls completed to the second story. The St. Marks combined hall and rectory building is being pushed along rapidly. Among the buildings lately started may be mentioned the following:

Residence of Mr. Walker on Second street east of Verdugo road, cost $3500. Mr. Mallett, story and a half residence on Verdugo road above Third street, $1500.

Mr. Brooks, Mary and Ryan streets, a $1500 cottage. Mr. Burnside, Third and Central avenue, $2200. Mr. Gilhousen, Mary street near Fifth, a $1500 bungalow. Rev. Morrison, Seventh and Central, two-story residence, $2500.

Among the prospective improvements is a fine residence to be erected by H. A. Doffelmeyer on a lot 63 by 100 feet, on the corner of Brand boulevard and Seventh street.

Mr. Donegan is building a handsome five-room modern cottage on the corner of Glendale avenue and Fifth streets. One of its attractive features will be the porch with cobblestone pillars. Cost about $2000.

While the speculative demand for lots is small at present there are frequent purchases by home builders.

Overton and company report the sale of three lots last week to prospective home builders. Among these is Mr. W. R. Middlesworth of New York, who has bought one lot in the Orange Grove tract and another at First and Howard streets.

Mr. Hodge, Central avenue, has just purchased a fine piece of property on the corner of Second and Central, 154 feet frontage on Central, by 150 deep. The present intention is to build there a fine residence, plans for which are already under consideration.

Mr. J. Broenner, who lived until recently in Los Angeles, will build in the near future a modern bungalow, costing about $2500 in Glendale, plans for which are already in the hands of a builder.

ENJOYABLE DANCE GIVEN BY THE "PROGRESSIVE CLUB."

This organization which consists of a few of our popular young ladies, gave a very successful dance at Odd Fellows hall, Tuesday evening last. The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion, in red and green. At a gaily decorated booth in one corner, punch and cakes were served. The programs were dainty hand-painted productions in attractive designs. Music was furnished by Mr. Clarence Peck and Mrs. Chandler. About forty couples were present and dancing continued until the usual late hour which prevails.

Charley Wood acted as Santa for the Presbyterian church, and Ed Pomeroy for the Methodist, and both carried out their parts excellently. The Catholics held their Christmas exercises on Christmas morning.

Baptist Annual Meeting

The Baptist church held its annual meeting on New Year's eve, at which the election of officers took place. All the business of the past year was reported by the various boards and a full corps of officers elected for the ensuing year. After the business meeting, a watch meeting was held by the Baraca and Philathea classes of the Sunday school. A pleasant social hour was spent at the close.

GLENDAL, CAL., JANUARY 2, 1909

OUR POPULATION.

The census which we have just had taken indicates a population of about 2000 within the Glendale city limits. The exact figures will be given as soon as they can be corrected in some details and verified. This falls somewhat below our estimate, but is sufficiently gratifying as indicating our remarkable growth during the last two or three years.

In Tropic, North and West Glendale and Casa Verdugo we expect to find when the returns are tabulated, at least 2500 people. Roughly speaking and disregarding all official and imaginary lines, we have here a community of 5000 souls; the growth of which has just fairly begun and its development from this time forward will well repay the observer who cares to note the possibilities of a Southern California community in the making!

A VOICE THAT IS STILL.

We have an interesting paper in our possession published at Edentown, Pa., Nov. 21, 1814. There are many items of historical interest in it, only one of which we will allude to at present. It is to this effect: "The editor requests every person indebted to him, to make immediate and effectual payment—not in the stale, heartless currency of promises, as cold and empty as the wind—but in honest cash, which the people expect from him and which any simpleton can believe and understand." * * * The editor is thus plain, first because he has no intention of starving among strangers—and secondly, because he has no idea of enjoying himself while he has the pretended patronage of five or six hundred citizens."

This really sounds quite modern, although written nearly one hundred years ago. We have a fellow feeling for our contemporary who has passed from the scene of journalistic endeavor. We wonder if he now has the pleasure of looking down upon his one-time fellow citizens who took his paper and then refused to pay for it!

THE POOL ROOM LICENSE.

Without wishing to stir up any controversy upon the subject of pool rooms in general or in reference to the Glendale pool room in particular, we think that the action of the board of trustees at their meeting Wednesday evening last in revoking Mr. Wardwell's license without due notice or without any particular complaint being made, was unfair to that gentleman. Mr. Wardwell has lived in this community for a good many years and has a reputation which with those who know him, gives assurance that he would not do anything that is not allowable in a good citizen. He has considerable money invested in a business which he naturally supposed to be legitimate and the sudden action taken by the trustees, if unrevoked, robs him of a good part of his investment. A general plea that the action of the trustees is a move in the direction of improved moral conditions, is not sufficient reason for committing an act which deprives a citizen of his rights. If the license is to be revoked Mr. Wardwell is entitled in all fairness to due notice before the action becomes effective.

THE VACCINATION OF PUBLIC SCHOOL CHILDREN.

The California state board of health is sending out notices to the different school boards throughout the state, insisting upon the carrying out of the provisions of the state law in regard to vaccination, which makes it compulsory among the children in attendance at public school. We have but little sympathy with the anti-vaccination sentiment, and believe that in the event of there being any immediate danger owing to the existence of cases of smallpox in a neighborhood, the provisions of the state law are very necessary for the preservation of the public health; but, at the same time we fall to see the necessity for general vaccination at times when and in localities where the disease does not exist. The subject will, no doubt, come up before the legislature at the session which begins next week and the radicals on both sides will be given an opportunity to air their views. The law should be amended so as to give the state board authority to order general vaccination in cases and localities where it seems to be required, but its provisions at present are too general in their character.

THE TARIFF ON SUGAR.

The ways and means committee of Congress will soon be hearing arguments pro and con in regard to the tariff on sugar. This is a subject that is of interest to every one who consumes that article, which means something like 80,000,000 people in the United States alone. And yet the consumers are the one class who will not be heard before the ways and means committee. The importer of the article will be there with facts and figures showing that the tariff should be taken off, and the sugar trust and the sugar grower will be on hand to demand that it be retained. In this connection a few facts in regard to sugar are of general interest. Our consumption of the article amounts to 3,000,000 tons per year, an increase of a million tons in the last twelve years. The American people pay for this article in a year the sum of $400,000,000. It is estimated that the cost of producing this amount of sugar and landing it in the United States is about $150,000,000, not including the duty. The remaining $250,000,000 represents duty, refining, handling, distribution and profits. The principal advocates of a high tariff are naturally the beet sugar growers who have for years been promising to supply the United States with sugar, but who are not as near now to keeping that promise as they were ten years ago, for although the output of beet sugar in the United States has increased in the last ten years from 40,000 tons to 450,000 tons annually, the increase is not equal to the increase in consumption. The total production of domestic sugar it will be noticed is but a small percentage of the amount consumed.

Viewed from an impartial standpoint, if a mere consumer can be impartial, it would seem that the attempt to bolster up the beet sugar industry by a tariff on the imported article is a fine example of benefit to the few at the expense of the many.

The problem of the slums seems at last to be in a fair way for successful solving in London where many families have been rescued from their apparently hopeless surroundings by being put to work on the hitherto unused lands outside of and the vacant lots within the confines of that city. Under this system some of the vacant lots of London have been made to yield as much as $250 worth of produce per acre. The success of this experiment is largely due to an American business man, Mr. Joseph Fels of Philadelphia, whose plans have been adopted by the Central Unemployed Body for London, an organization the object of which is to secure work for the unemployed. A number of railroad companies have adopted the plan of encouraging their employees to cultivate the waste land at the side of the railroad tracks and it is now a common sight to see long rows of vegetables growing along the railroad lines. This is a practical work for the betterment of mankind that promises more than any fine spun theory of reform which requires volumes to explain its workings, and the only wonder in connection with it is that it should not have been tried long ago. When one considers the vast acreage of land untitled on the one hand and the hungry thousands who would be glad to earn their bread by the "sweat of their brow" on the other, it would seem as if all other schemes for the abolition of poverty ought to be put into the background for the purposes of bringing together the soil and the man.

THE DESTRUCTION OF SICILY.

The most appalling disaster in modern times, if not in the history of the world, has overtaken the beautiful island of Sicily and the Southern portion of the Italian peninsula which is separated from the island by the narrow and historic Straits of Messina. The number of lives lost will always be a matter of conjecture, but will doubtless reach 100,000, while the property loss can scarcely be estimated. It is difficult for the rest of the world to appreciate the nature and extent of the calamity; but from the incomplete accounts received it seems to amount to a practical wiping out of a portion of the planet on which we live. Fire, and a tremendous tidal wave which inundated a great area of territory and completely changed the aspect of the country, are responsible for the most of the destruction wrought. It is one of those disasters for which, fortunately, no human agency can be held responsible; and yet close upon this idea follows the realization of the grim and insatiable forces of Nature which at their will crush out the mortal life of the little creatures that people the earth! The sympathy of the wide world goes out to the stricken Italian people, in that land which of all others, the little circumscribed area of Palestine excepted, has most inspired the scholars and poets of our time, who have made familiar to those who have not looked upon it, the beauty of its soft skies and azure seas, its mountains and its fertile plains. Poor, stricken Italy, the heart of the world throbs in sympathy with you in this hour of unparalleled affliction, for the disaster which has overtaken you is a calamity for all the world!

A TRIUMPH OF SCIENCE!

Prof. T. H. Morgan of the department of biology at Columbia university has evolved a scheme by which the color of mice may be regulated. This discovery fills a long-felt want. The ordinary mauve-colored mouse of commerce has become monotonous. It not only gets upon the table but upon our nerves. It has been impossible to adapt it to the purposes of art heretofore, but Morgan has solved the problem of the ages, and we may now expect to see the mouse utilized as never before. It will lend itself to color schemes of infinite variety; heretofore a green mouse on a red background has not been considered quite the thing from an artistic standpoint, except in worsted work, which lacks several degrees of being high art anyhow. This will all be changed now and the critics will not be allowed to sneer at yellow mice chasing black ladies over blue piano tops and red mantel pieces. Hereafter the mouse will not be esteemed as heretofore for his useful qualities, whatever they may be, but will be of inestimable value for ornamental purposes. And not only mice but rats as well.

It has always been difficult for the ladies to procure rats of the exact shade to match their hair, but science has come to the rescue and it will now be the simplest thing possible. Great is Morgan and great is Columbia university; the higher education really is the thing after all!

WHAT WE HAVE HERE IN GLENDAL.

The first of the year is a good time to take an account of stock. Let us see what Glendale has aside from those things which nature has endowed us with and which are shared by our neighbors just outside the city line. One steam railroad, not overworking itself at present, but full of possibilities. One electric railroad, giving half hour car service, up to date in every particular and equalled by very few other electric roads in the United States, with another electric road under contract and coming. Two banks with aggregate deposits of something like $400,000 and only established three years and a half. A sanitarium, two dry goods stores, six groceries, two meat shops, two hardware stores, two feed and fuel establishments, one furniture store, two drug stores, two lumber yards, one planing mill, one shoe store, three lunch rooms, one hotel, three boarding houses, three tailor shops, two barber shops, two blacksmith shops, two cornice and tin shops, one livery stable, one undertaker, three shoemakers, one implement store, three repair shops, two plumbing establishments, one electrical supply store, one cigar store, one harness shop, three packing houses, two millinery establishments, one watch repair and stationery store, one nursery, two express and transfer companies. Then there are our professionals: Three dentists, four physicians, three or four lawyers, and the preachers. We have an overcrowded ten thousand dollar High School and are building a new one to cost $50,000. We have two large grammar schools, five churches, six two-story brick blocks and two of one story, and others contemplated. Ten miles, completed and under way, of the finest paved streets in California. A good fire department, a clean, capable city government and a low tax rate. There are other things for which let us hope that we are duly thankful, among which may be mentioned a decent sort of a weekly newspaper and one of the best printing outfits you can find in any town of our class.

FREE LECTURE BY MR. BAUMGART.

On Monday evening next at Symphony hall (rear of Blanchard's), Los Angeles, Mr. Baumgardt, the celebrated lecturer, will deliver a lecture before the Academy of Sciences upon the subject of "The Intellectual Evolution of Man." Like all of Mr. Baumgardt's lectures, this will be illustrated in a most interesting manner. A general invitation is extended to the public, and it will be a rare opportunity to partake in an intellectual treat.

BUSINESS CHANGES.

Mr. G. B. Hoffman has sold his restaurant and confectionery on Glendale avenue between Third and Fourth streets, to Mrs. McCormick, who will conduct it no doubt in the same satisfactory manner which Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman have got their patrons accustomed to. Mr. Hoffman's health made it necessary for him to give up the fine business which he has built up in a comparatively short time.

The regular monthly service at St. Mark's church next Sunday evening will be of the nature of a Christmas musical service.

CHRISTMAS AT THE CHURCHES.

Christmas is, past, the New Year upon us, but some mention should be made of the Christmas festivities in the various churches, where Glendale observed the holiday in true old-time spirit.

At First Presbyterian church there was the tree and loads of holiday greens fluttering with beautiful stars and Christmas bells. Appropriate exercises consisted of readings and music, and Christmas "doings" by the littlest class of all. However Santa Claus managed is a mystery, but he appeared here, and at all of the churches.

St. Marks and Auxiliary entertained the Episcopal school on Wednesday evening at the old Odd Fellows hall, Glendale avenue. Among the gifts there was an exquisite and very large fern for Rev. Fackenthal.

The First Baptist church held exercises on Thursday evening, when gifts for children only were generously distributed. The program consisted of carols and Christmas hymns.

At the Methodist church on Christmas eve the children were treated to some fine stereopticon views. The church was very beautiful in holiday greens and there was gathered there gifts and fruit and vegetables for widespread distribution among those whose Christmas was made much brighter by the thoughtful remembrances.

For the little ones in the new Catholic congregation, there was a splendid celebration in G. A. R. hall, made a fairland with sparkling tree, and an abundance of lovely Christmas greens and blossoms. This was given on Saturday night.

GLENDAL SUNSETS.

I sincerely pity those who spend their afternoons in the east rooms of their dwellings. They miss so much in losing sight of the often rarely beautiful sunsets seen from this valley. We have, it is true, less of evening clouds than most places outside of Southern California. Therefore brilliant sunsets are not so frequent as in the East.

I have failed to see in other states sunsets with as delicate a beauty as those seen from my upper West windows, in spite of my cherished sky line being cut into by the nature-marring hand of the workers in wood and stone. It may be that the atmospheric conditions of the San Fernando valley are of a nature to give the exquisite tender grays melting into delicate shades of rose, crimson and yellow, with a background of robin's egg blue and pale seagreen. The coloring is finest after the late rains. A friend said to me once: "I think the eyes of age see beauty which the younger eyes fail to notice." If it might be so, that would add to my belief that old age should be and in fact was intended to be, and often is, the pleasant time of one's life. The passions of youth and cares of middle age passed away with charity for all and malice toward none. Then may the aged look around and see how beautiful is the earth which the Giver of all good things has given us.

ELLEN B. NEWCOMB.

MIRADERO LODGE, KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS.

Pythians number now one hundred in Glendale, and very soon they will be able to occupy the fine hall rapidly nearing completion on Brand boulevard between Third and Fourth, where the dancing floor is 800 feet larger than any other up-to-date polished floor in Fernando valley. The lodge is recently organized, and is to be installed January 9th, with a charter list of one hundred, by Gauntlet Lodge of Los Angeles. Officers have been elected and are as follows: C. S., J. C. Collins; V. S., F. H. Mitchell; prelate, S. A. Chase; M. of W., Frank H. Davis; K. of R. and S., Fred Deal; M. of F., L. B. Fitzgerald; M. of E., B. S. Quick; M. at A., Charles Grist; J. G. George Dodson; O. G., H. M. Miller; P. S., F. H. Mitchell; Fred Deal, H. A. Brewsing, J. H. Seaman; trustees, Frank Dow, Llewellyn Andrews, Charles Muney; physicians, Dr. R. E. Chase, Dr. A. O. Conrad.

For the Boulevard

"Buffalo, N. Y., Dec. 21, 1908. "The Glendale News, Glendale, Cal. "Gentlemen: I noticed in your issue of Dec. 12th, an article on the subject of boulevards in Glendale. It is a subject of interest to me as I own a little property there, on Central avenue and Randolph street, and hope to build a home and live there before a great while. I will be glad to donate a strip of land to make Central avenue a good boulevard, and trust all the property holders will do the same and push the work to completion in the very near future.

"Respectfully yours,"
"J. C. DENNERLEN."

REVIVAL SERVICES.

At the Baptist church, begin Sunday morning next, January 3d, and will be conducted by Rev. J. F. Watson, of Pomona. The public is invited and other churches are cordially invited to co-operate.

STEADY GROWTH OF TROPICO

Building Operations During the Past Year Show Satisfactory Growth —Lots in Demand

That building is moving along steadily in the vicinity of Tropico is proven by a statement given by John Hobbs, proprietor of the Tropico Lumber company, to a representative of this paper this week. It was stated by Mr. Hobbs that during the past year over 75 carloads of lumber were sold from that yard. In each car there are between 15,000 and 22,000 feet of lumber, and this report shows that nearly 1,500,000 feet of building material passed through the hands of this company during the past twelve months. Besides this the company has distributed a number of cars of alpine cement, fath, shingles, etc., during these months. All of this lumber was not used in building homes in Tropico, however, a little going to East Hollywood, Van-hoe, Eagle Rock and Glendale, but the amount of material which was carried to outside points was very small compared to that which was used right here. This does not show all the building done in this place during the year, as considerable lumber was brought in from the Glendale and Los Angeles yards, but it is sufficient to prove that things are not at a standstill in this section as far as building is concerned. In the majority of cases the homes built here have been of a class to which the town can point with pride.

Real estate agents of Tropico report an increasing call for property. The general inquiry is for building lots. In most instances the inquirers wish to erect cottages of various sizes which they would rent, while some of the lots are desired for business purposes. There are rumors afloat here at the present time which lead one to believe that there will be a hotel of good size erected here in the near future. It is understood that parties were in Tropico a short time ago inquiring about a site for this much-needed improvement. There is also some talk about a drug store being started here in the near future. A drug store has been greatly needed here for a long time and a store of this kind would be welcomed by local residents. Taken generally, the reality agents say that things are looking brighter than they have been for several months past, and they think that the first of the year will bring much activity in the sale of realty.

Hal Davenport has subdivided his ten acres of land which lies between Glendale avenue and Brand boulevard and the property is already on the market for sale. Altogether, there are fifty-two building lots which range in price from $550 up, and they comprise almost the entire block from Glendale avenue to Brand boulevard and from Cypress avenue to Moore avenue, the only part of the block which does not belong to him is a small piece at the north end of the property, which was sold some time ago by Mrs. Mary Ayers, the former owner.

Through the center of the land a street has been cut which has been named Blanche avenue, and runs from north to south. Around the east, south and west sides of the property there has been 14,000 square feet of sidewalk and 3300 running feet of curb installed. In addition to this improvement Mr. Davenport will beautify the subdivision by planting a great number of shade and ornamental trees between the curb and sidewalk on all sides of the property.

When this improvement is finished it will make the Davenport block one of the prettiest in the valley, and it is hoped that this work will be just the beginning of much improvement work to be done in this place.

The home of Andy Stephenson on Central avenue between Cypress avenue and Park, is nearing completion, and Mr. Stephenson and his family expect to move in next Monday morning. This home is one of the finest in Tropico. Throughout it is finished in old mission style and the woodwork is of slash grain Oregon pine, stained dark brown. The drawing room and library are fitted with a built-in bookcase and the broad staircase is built on old colonial lines with heavy posts and wide panels. The house has seven rooms with bath room and large screen porch at the rear. The home is modern in every respect. The upper east bedroom has a large glass door which opens out upon a wide veranda. A wide cement walk leads from the street to the front porch and around the south side of the house. Mr. Stephenson will plant the ground at the front of the home to a lawn, and will set out a number of roses and other shrubbery at the sides and front of the house. This is the first house to be erected in the Scheu tract which was opened recently.

A NEIGHBORHOOD CHRISTMAS PARTY.

Friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. M. Z. Remsburg were very pleasantly entertained with a social evening on Tuesday, at their home on Belmont avenue. About eighteen were invited, and Christmas games and conversation were thoroughly enjoyed. Light refreshments were served.

NEW TEACHER FOR WEST GLENDAL.

So rapidly has the West Glendale enrollment grown at the new school the trustees have found it necessary to hire one more teacher, Miss Yarnell, making four for the building. She begins her duties Monday, Jan. 4th, at the opening of the new term.

The U. S. cruiser Yankee recently sunk in Buzzard's Bay, off the Massachusetts coast. Admiral Capps personally examined the wreck and decided that it could not be raised. Along came a coffee dealer, plain Mr. Arbuckle, with a plan for raising the vessel which worked successfully. As Mr. Arbuckle turns out a rather poor brand of coffee, there is a possibility that he would make a good admiral!

SIXTH STREET SCHOOL OPENS.

The new Sixth Street school will open on Monday morning, Jan. 4th, when the children attending that school are to report to the principal, Mrs. Ida M. Waite. The rooms were put in order Wednesday and everything is in readiness for the new term.

GLENDALE

To a person accustomed to and appreciating the advantages of the city, but who prefers a life in the country for considerations of health, pleasure or profit, the ideal location for a home is found in a pleasant country neighborhood within a few minutes' ride of the city.

This close association of city and country gives to property in the suburbs of a large and rapidly growing city a value which is difficult to estimate in dollars and cents. It is a consideration which appeals forcibly alike to the home-seeker who is fortunately above the necessity of taking into account the question of a financially profitable investment; to the tiller of the soil, who must necessarily figure upon the associated ideas of a productive soil, favorable climatic conditions, and a near-by market; and finally to the investor looking with speculative eye upon the promise made by a particular locality in regard to the probable increase in values in the near future.

To all the above classes, GLENDALE appeals with peculiar force given by its unique merits and varied attractions. In an air line it is six miles from the business centre of Los Angeles and about three miles from the northern boundary of that city.

RAILROADS

The Glendale branch of the Salt Lake Railroad Company, starting from its depot on First street, passes through East Los Angeles, along the base of the low hills on the northern limits of the city paralleling the line of the Southern Pacific road until it reaches Glendale avenue at its junction with the San Fernando road, where it proceeds northward through Glendale to its present terminus, Verdugo Park.

The Huntingdon Electric Railway system has a double-track line connecting Los Angeles and Glendale, first-class in its construction and equipment, following a route which for scenic beauty is probably unequalled by any ride of similar length in Southern California.

The first rails for the new extension of the Los Angeles Railway Company have been laid and cars will be running in a few weeks.

TROPICO MERCANTILE CO.

Both Phones

pure Andalusian strain thoroughbreds one one side and regular Hambletonian Plymouth Rock Pilgrims on the other—well you know as well as anybody that what I don't know about poultry isn't worth collecting on your memory plates. I had made a business of telling people for years how to manage poultry and I had it down pretty fine. But do you know for a fact this was really the first time I had a chance to demonstrate and I went at it with the enthusiasm of a maiden who starts out for the first time to tell an awe-struck world that it will go at once to the bow-wows if it doesn't follow her sage advice and do things different and otherwise. The fellow had the flock in pretty good shape. I've often wondered since how a chap as far gone as he was, had the strength to do it. Eggs were sixteen cents a dozen when I started in, and I had to sit up nights to see that those fool hens didn't work themselves to death. For about six weeks I was kept busy gathering eggs and hauling them into town, fearful every time I went that I would hear that the produce exchange had barred me out of the market on account of the danger of overproduction. But the hens kept right on and I put every dollar of the income into incubators and brooders houses preparing to astonish the Los Angeles market just as soon as the hatching season came around. Well, of course, this couldn't last forever, and it didn't, stopped in fact quite a while before. One morning I picked up a paper sort of casually, glanced at the market reports and saw that eggs were quoted at forty cents! I had a sort of intuition which told me that I had better begin to hedge; it wasn't in the nature of things that even Blue Rocks would continue to yield eggs at such a ridiculous price. And they didn't. Don't know how they found it out, but in twenty-four hours egg production on the Blue Rock Andalusian Poultry ranch fell off twenty-five per cent, and within a week they had ceased to drop a single egg and the market quotations had climbed to fifty-two cents! It's one of the mysteries of creation how hens keep track of the market price of eggs. Maybe it's intuition, but if it is, then the ordinary her of commerce has the human woman with the same thing beaten to a frazzle. Well, you can imagine that I saw my finish right there. I had spent nearly all the money I had raked in on incubators and things in preparation for the season when I really should begin to demonstrate the possibilities for the accumulation of wealth in the poultry business. Of course, I had a few dollars around the house, but they were like "snow flakes on the river" or "butter on a hot griddle," just according to the point of view; and presently I found myself properly stranded with my choice collection of Blue Rocks being rapidly depleted to minister to my necessities; the hatching season near at hand and no prospect of a supply of eggs to feed the incubators, and I was properly up against it sure enough. I tried to sell the incubators and things, but the second hand dealers told me they had found it necessary to stop buying the things as they hadn't store room for all that were offered. Well, I stuck it out till I got tired of eating Blue Rocks Hambletonians with pedigrees running back to the Mayflower, and so when a tenderfoot came along yesterday morning and made me an offer, I jumped at it with both feet and here I am. Have you still got a place for me in the "Farm, Garden and Poultry department?" If so I'm your man; if not, here goes for a winter's berth at the county farm. They have some mighty fine chickens there and I've a standing offer of the position of curator of the poultry department?"

Having run along at this length and finally ran down, the Hen Man without pausing for a reply, the unfavorable nature of which he probably anticipated, withdrew from our sanction as unceremoniously as he entered, leaving us to our reflections and the companionship of the office cat.

A NORWAY CHRISTMAS TREE.

Perhaps none of the Christmas "home" dinners were more unique or prettier than the happy little affair in the bungalow home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cornelius Andersen, Cedar street. Decorations and customs reminiscent of Norway were employed. The center piece for the table was a dainty, sparkling tree, decked according to old-time Norwegian customs. Gifts from that far country, sent by loving relatives there, were displayed. During the dinner many savory dishes, native to Norway, were served. The beautiful gifts, photographs of dear ones, and loving Christmas letters made the Norwegian fatherland seem not so far away, after all, from sunny California.

The report of the Owens River Aqueduct commission shows the expenditure of $3,542,860 for the year ending Oct. 31. The expenditure for the coming year is estimated at $4,683,619, and it is expected that 58 miles of the canal will then be completed.

Miss Cora Hickman entertained with a luncheon Monday evening at her home, "Palm Villa," complimentary to Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Blain.

Mrs. William Kirkby and mother, Mrs. Thomas of Glendale, were entertained at dinner by Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., at her home on Tropic avenue, Monday evening.

Mrs. Martha McClure, principal of the Tropic schools, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Rachel and son, Granville, left Saturday for a two weeks visit to Porterville.

Little Robert Hopkins gave a pretty party to a number of his young friends at the home of his parents on Moore avenue, Tuesday afternoon. The affair was given to celebrate Robert's birthday.

Prof. William Malcom, formerly principal of the Tropic Grammar school, was a visitor in this place, Tuesday. Mr. Malcom is now principal of the Grammar School of El Monte.

Hos. S. A. Kendall arrived from Versailles, Peru, and is spending the Christmas holidays with his family, who are the guests during the winter season of Mrs. Anna Imier Smith of "Luita Ana."

Miss Maggie McCormack of Gatesburg, Ill., who is spending the winter months in Los Angeles, was a guest at the Hobbs home during the past week. She is more than pleased with the little town.

Mr. Tafford, who was recently employed as shipping clerk at the West-Air-Tile company, moved with his family into the house owned by Mrs. Annie on Cypress avenue east of Tropic and boulevard, this week.

Miss Fannie Marple, contralto soloist of the First Methodist church of Los Angeles, has been secured by the music committee of the Christian church of this valley as musical instructor of the choir at that church.

J. W. Morris of Indianapolis, is the best of his daughter, Mrs. Clyde Caruck and family at their home on Central avenue. Mr. Morris has been in Tropic for more than a week and expects to spend the remainder of the winter here.

The Tropic Ladies' Thursday Afternoon club will hold their next meeting at the home of Mrs. Burt W. Richardson. Mrs. Willoughby Rodman of Los Angeles will be present and will talk on city playgrounds and their value to the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Davenport and family, company with Mrs. Hattie Brewster and mother, Mrs. Moller, spent the holidays with Mrs. Davenport's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Lunn at Irindale. The trip was made by auto and the party returned Saturday morning.

Prof. Handley, an instructor at Occidental College, will, in the absence of the pastor, Rev. McConnell, preach oration and evening at the Presbyterian church, tomorrow. Mr. Handley is a powerful talker and it will be of interest of the local residents to hear him.

Joseph Marple, Jr., is leaving today for Tucson, Ariz., where he will be employed as singing evangelist in a series of revival meetings which will start on Sunday morning at that place.

Mr. Marple will be gone for at least a month and may possibly stay for the remainder of the winter.

The Sunday school of the Methodist church of this place will hold a rally at their service tomorrow morning. S. G. Biddle, who has been the superintendent of the school for the past year, will retire from that office at this service and George Link, who was recently appointed, will be installed.

Mrs. Lillian Peckham, chairman of the entertainment committee is preparing to give an entertainment at G. A. R. hall, Friday evening, January 8, for the benefit of the relief fund of N. P. Banks Woman's Relief corps. Mrs. Peckham has arranged a most interesting program for the evening.

E. A. Bennett, who some time ago sold his interest in the Tropic Mercantile company, is moving with his family into the Dutton house on the corner of Tropic avenue and Brand boulevard. The house is being repainted and improved and the grounds surrounding the home are being beautified.

Just to prove that property in Tropic is constantly enhancing in value, we might mention that Mr. Copp, who purchased a lot on Tropic avenue, east of Brand boulevard about two years ago for $250, was offered $800 for that same lot several days ago by a Los Angeles party. Mr. Copp refused the offer.

Mrs. Samuel A. Ayers of Central avenue, who was summoned to Vancouver, Wash., the first of November, to the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Sadie Denison, who was ill, returned home the latter part of the week. Mrs. Ayers visited her grandson, Marlon A. Barker, who is in the navy, at Mare Island, while en route home.

Miss Evalena Ayers attended the wedding of Miss Anna McDonald and Mr. Rufus Fallis, which event occurred at Compton. Miss Ayers, who is recognized as one of Tropic's fairest of sweet singers, sang "I Love You Truly," and "Because," at the marriage ceremony of Miss McDonald and Mr. Fallis.

A part of Tropic folks including Mr. and Mrs. William Harvey, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Seaman, and Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Merrill, spent Thursday in Pasadena where they were guests of Col. and Mrs. A. H. Sellers. The party witnessed the floral parade from Mr. Sellers' large touring auto, after which they enjoyed a sumptuous dinner.

Rev. Smale of Los Angeles will conduct a Union Bible class, the first meeting to be held in G. A. R. hall, Tuesday evening, January 5. A welcome is extended to all Bible students and to those who wish to become students. The first studies will be the Divine Library, subdivided under the subjects of "The Perfection of Its Inspiration," and "The Books Outlined."

Dr. J. O. Garmon recently purchased the lot at the northeast corner of Tropic avenue and Brand boulevard of Prof. Willard Chandler. The price paid was $25 per front foot and faces on Tropic avenue. Already Mr. Garmon has been offered considerable more for the piece than he paid, but he intends to hold the property for a while, when he is certain that he will receive far more than his latest offer.

It is understood that the property owners along the east side of Glendale avenue between Moore avenue and Cypress street, will soon install sidewalks and curbs along the front of their property. There are several owners who have been holding out against the majority for some time, but it is probably that now that Mr. Davenport is improving his property on the opposite side of the street, the east side improvement work will be done in the near future.

Interest seems to be waning in the fire department which was organized at this place some time ago, and it is hoped that it will not be necessary for another of the fine residences of this place to burn to the ground before the interest in this line will be permanent and not merely excitement. A number of the subscribers to the fire fund have not paid in their subscriptions, but it is understood that when all the money has been turned in, one and even two more chemical fire engines will be purchased.

At a recent meeting of the Epworth League of the Methodist church of this place the league was reorganized. At this meeting four new members were received and W. W. McWhorter was elected president and S. G. Biddle, who is leaving the president's chair, was elected first vice president. The remainder of the officers who served for the past year were re-elected and will serve in their respective offices during the coming year.

Probably the most enjoyable event of the week was the party given by the members of the Tropic Thursday Afternoon club, to their children and their children's little girl and boy friends, in Logan's hall, Thursday evening. The hall had been prettily decorated with an abundance of flowers and greenery and the hours were very pleasantly spent in playing games of different kinds. During the evening refreshments were served.

While several employees of the Sunset Telephone company were clearing a number of trees from the lot on the corner of Tropic avenue and Brand boulevard, Monday morning, one of the ropes which were supporting a tall eucalyptus broke and the tree fell across the wires, carrying with it all of the telephone wires on the east side of the street. The men worked on repairing the remainder of the day, but it was not until the following morning that service could be resumed over the telephones that are in that section.

A party was given in the G. A. R. hall, Thursday evening, to see the old year out and the new year in. The affair was given by the Fraternal Champions lodge, which was organized recently in this valley. Quite a number of the young people of Tropic attended and the hours were pleasantly passed in playing games which followed the rendering of a very pleasing program. Although this lodge is young in the valley it already has over seventy-five members and is growing very rapidly. Shortly before midnight refreshments were served.

A company of Tropic young people, in company with a number of friends from Los Angeles, enjoyed a tramp to the Little Tejuja, New Year's day. The party went by trolley to Sierra Madre from where they followed the Mt. Wilson trail until they reached the mouth of the canyon. Dinner was eaten while sitting beside the cool mountain stream and after a lengthy rest the young folks started home. Those from this place who enjoyed the tramp were Misses Flora Chandler, Emily Ellias, Helen Cole and Lina Shirley; Messrs. Frank Shirley, Eddie Weston and Albert Marple.

A number of electric lights have illuminated the grounds surrounding the Tropic Pacific electric station during the past week. Some time ago the Tropic Improvement society took up the matter of having lights placed at this point with the railroad company and it is mainly through the efforts of that organization that the people of this place are enjoying at least a little light. Now that lights have been secured it might be well for the parents to prevent the children from breaking the incandescent globes, as has been the case in the past when the company placed electric lights at this point.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Peckham entertained with a Christmas dinner party at their home in Tropic avenue. A number of Christmas carols were sung by Mr. and Mrs. Peckham and their guests, while Mrs. Peckham sang several solos.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Ellias, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Chandler, Miss Flora Chandler, Miss Lillian Ellias, Miss Gladys Bronson, Miss Emily Ellias, Frances and Gladys Peckham, W. H. Shondy and E. D. Weston.

A watchnight meeting was held in the Methodist church of this place, Thursday evening. Quite a number of local residents assembled and during the evening short prayer services were held between which services social intercourse was enjoyed. There was good music rendered during the evening. The year was ushered out with an old-fashioned watch-night meeting. With this meeting a series of revival meetings were begun. It is expected by the pastor, Rev. J. H. Henry, that this series of meetings will continue during January, but the length of the series depends entirely on the interest manifest by the people of Tropic. Rev. M. Haney of Pasadena, recently of the East, will assist in the meetings for the first two weeks and if the meetings are continued he might stay through the entire series. Presiding Elder Thompson will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church next Sunday morning.

INSTALLATION CEREMONY.

The installation of officers for Unity Lodge F. & A. M., took place on Tuesday evening, December 29th, in the Masonic hall on Brand boulevard, before as large a company as has ever gathered in the valley for a like purpose.

Masons and their friends of the entire San Fernando valley were represented and they made a goodly gathering to witness the impressive ceremonies. Officers installed were, Daniel Campbell, worthy master; Arthur Campbell, senior warden; R. Z. Imier, junior warden; Asa Fancet, treasurer; Richard Sternberg, secretary; W. McFadden, senior deacon; Alphonso Tower, junior deacon; Rev. Henry, chaplain; Thomas Delell, marshal; John Hobbs, senior steward; H. L. Bulkeley, junior steward; Jesse Stine, tyler.

Following installation there was a grand reception and dance at the Country Club house, which was appropriately arranged for the occasion. Dancing afforded pleasure for those who could find room on the floor, though space was at a premium, so crowded were all the rooms. Fruit punch was served continuously and guests enjoyed the affair immensely. Features greatly appreciated were the vocal selections furnished by Mr. Webb, tenor, of Los Angeles, who gave three good numbers.

ALASKA-YUKON-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

This exposition opens at Seattle June 1st next, closing Oct. 16th. Progress on buildings and grounds is reported in a very satisfactory stage. The California building is completed and with its contents will be one of the most attractive features of the fair. Of course the structure is in the old Mission style and is located on a slightly elevated overlooking Lake Washington. The week beginning June 15th has been set aside as California week and Sept. 9th has been selected as California day; the California Promotion committee is actively at work to insure a large attendance on these occasions. There will be many excursions to Seattle during the summer to visit this interesting exposition of the products and to note the evidences of the development of the Pacific Coast, and particularly of the great Northwest.

MRS. E. A. MCCOMBS ENTERTAINS IN HONOR OF MISS ALICE CONN.

At the pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. McCombs last Monday evening, a progressive Whist party was given by the hostess in honor of Miss Alice Conn of Newark, Ohio, who has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. McCombs for some time past. The house was decorated tastefully with red bells and carnations and presented an attractive appearance which was with the entertainment afforded by the host and hostess, thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

Guests present were: Miss Alice Conn, Newark, O.; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Dye, Columbus, O.; Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Hutchison, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Seng, Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Mesick, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Miner and Mr. Orr Seng. Prizes were won by Mrs. L. D. Hutchison and C. L. Dye, the consolation being borne off by Mr. A. H. Miner.

ABLE HOSTESSES.

The great success of the much praised Christmas party given Monday for the little children of members of the Country Club was very largely due to the untiring efforts and original ideas of the able corps of hostesses who assisted to chairman on arrangements, Mrs. Daniel Campbell, of North Glendale. These ladies were: Mrs. George Holman, Mrs. J. R. White, Mrs. Clummen, Mrs. Hugh Blue, Mrs. Julius Kranz. Six other ladies, in costume, assisted also as nurses. Mr. Charles Shattuck, Mr. Edward J. Keatinge, Miss Blanche Davenport and Miss Emma Williams were also very instrumental in furnishing a vast amount of pleasure and excitement for the little ones.
